

Resigns Seat On Council

Jones Steps Down From Position

(By D. Kelly Scruton)
The City Council Monday night accepted the resignation of Third Ward Councilman Jerry "Bud" Jones. His resignation resulted from the fact that he has moved from the Third Ward to the Fourth Ward and now resides on Keyhole Drive in Southwest Village. His resignation leaves the Council with seven councilmen and the mayor to serve until the next city election in April 1968, when the Third Ward will elect a new councilman to succeed Jones whose term would have expired at that time.

His letter of resignation, addressed to Mayor Ralph Walker and members of the City Council, was read by City Clerk Ralph Dedrick. The letter follows:

"It is with mixed feeling that I write this letter, the purpose of which is to resign my office as Councilman.

"The interpretation of Section 77.060 of the Revised Statutes provides that once you move from the ward that elected you, you forfeit your right to continue as Councilman representing that ward.

"My original impression, being since only a short time was left on my term, was that there would be no necessity of replacement. Even though we represent one particular ward, this Council has not been jealous of ward lines and has tried to do the best for the entire city, which I believe is the proper attitude. "I would like to say that it has been my pleasure to serve with the Mayor and members of the Council. It has been a wonderful experience and quite educational. These past 1 1/2 years have flown rapidly by and I only hope I have helped solve a few problems and not created them.

"Also the city employees I have come into contact with are all splendid people and it has been my gain to have worked with them.

"And to the people of the Third Ward, a big hearty "Thank You" for this opportunity. I feel a real and lasting honor and I want to express my sincere appreciation of this evidence of your kind regard. You all are wonderful people and it's been a genuine pleasure representing you.

"And now to you, Mr. Mayor and members of the Council, I sincerely wish you the best and that the coming months will bring you more of success.

"Kindest regards,
"Jerry Jones"

Councilman George Dugan, Jr., took the floor and moved for the acceptance of the resignation. Dugan, in his remarks, said Jones expressed his feeling as to the Council, and felt confident the Council would continue to work for the best interest of Sedalia. His motion was seconded by Councilman George H. Miller, and it was unanimously accepted.

Mayor Walker paid tribute to Jones for his work in the Council and his untiring services rendered the people of not only the Third Ward but also the entire city.

The mayor then explained he did not feel a special election was necessary since it would be an additional cost to the taxpayers, unless the people of the Ward desire one. A newly elected councilman under a special election would have less than three months to serve before he would have to run again for re-election.

In his remarks, the mayor indicated he had confidence in the present membership regardless of party lines.

The mayor then appointed George Miller as chairman of the Sewer and Sanitation Committee to succeed Jones, and assured him he would have a man of experience on the committee working with him in Councilman Walter Jessee, a former chairman of the committee, now chairman of the Street and Alley Committee.

Name Homer Marshall To Rights Commission

By D. Kelly Scruton
Homer Marshall, 519 West Morgan, was named Monday night by Mayor Ralph Walker to succeed Ed Farrari as a member of the Sedalia Human Rights Commission. Marshall was unanimously confirmed by the City Council during its meeting.

The resignation of Farrari was accepted by the Council some time ago when he moved from Sedalia to Illinois.

Costs of Usage

No action was taken on the recommendation of the Sanitation Committee as presented by Councilman Walter Jessee regarding the sanitary packer which is being placed in operation on Benton street for trash disposal.

Councilman Jessee reported that the committee, after considerable discussion, was presenting a recommendation on charges to be made. The charges recommended are $1.00 for one ton or less of trash; $2.00 for two tons or less and $3.00 for three tons or less.

The Council also heard bids read for a metal building for the new City Disposal grounds northeast of Sedalia. The three bids were from Temple Callison for a building 20 by 25 feet for $1,165; from the Burton Construction Co., for a 20 by 24 feet at $1,832.52; and from Dean Construction Co. for a 20 by 24 building at $1,950.

All bids were referred to the Buildings and Grounds Committee, after Councilman Jessee told the Council the building was necessary to house various things that are needed at the grounds.

Recommendations of the Traffic Advisory Committee were read to the Council and taken under advisement. They were to establish no parking in front of all nursing homes so emergency vehicles would not be blocked from the area; no parking on Seventh between Massachusetts and Lamine on the north side of the street, and no parking in front of 209 East Seventh, a nursing home. It was also recommended to change the taxi zone on Lamine on the east side of the street between Fourth and Fifth in front of the Yellow Cab office to a 5-minute loading zone.

Since ground was broken Oct. 9, 1964 near the confluence of the Grand and Osage Rivers, and Tebo Creek, the federal government has spent $23.8 million at Kaysinger. By the time it's finished in 1973, Kaysinger will have cost $196 million or more.

In October, while President Johnson and Congress were engaged in the Alphonse-Gaston act of "you cut spending first," the administration hit the legislators in their most sensitive spot—the pork barrel. A freeze

Kaysinger Is Example Of Pork-Barreling

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Shawnee Indians camped below Kaysinger Bluff in Missouri's Ozarks, pork-barreling might have involved no more than a chief's ordering a fishing bank cleared of brush to enhance his standing with the braves.

Today a $200-million example of jet-age pork-barreling is being built where the Indians once fished in the shadow of the bluff. It involves a power dam, artificial lake and recreation facilities.

Such projects now under way or in the planning stages—bridges, dams, harbors and levees—will cost the American taxpayer $15.2 billion by the time they are finished years from now.

And Congress, while huffing mightily about economy, is in the final stages of approving new work that is contributing an ultimate $4.1 billion to that total.

In the fiscal year which started July 1, spending on the 440 public works projects planned or in progress will add up to $1.3 billion. That compares with such other big items as $4.6 billion for space, $2.1 billion for medicare and $2.26 billion for the Office of Economic Op-

Escapes Injury

The driver of this tire truck, Orin Eugene Cardwell, 32, Marshfield, Mo., escaped with only a bruised left shoulder and multiple, small cuts not of a serious nature when his truck and the Ford tractor, pulling a flat lowboy, crashed in Ottumwa on U. S. Highway 50 at 3:45 p.m. Monday. Charles Albert Williams, 55, Raytown, driver of the Ford tractor, escaped without any injuries. The 30,000-pound earth-moving tractor is shown after it broke loose from the lowboy and crashed onto the cab of the International truck driven by Cardwell. "When steam started coming from the radiator, I knew I had to get out," Cardwell said, "and I climbed through where the windshield used to be."

Possible Offensives By Communist Units

Ground Action Shows 'Cactus Jack' Upswing in Two Areas

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting was reported today in South Vietnam's jungled central highlands and along the coastal lowlands. It could signal the start of new dry season offensives by the Communists in the two areas.

Troops of South Korea's White Horse Division reported killing 113 North Vietnamese in fighting Monday and today near the division base headquarters in the lowlands 205 miles northeast of Saigon. Korean casualties were reported light.

In a series of sharp clashes in the central highlands 300 miles north of Saigon, 20 American paratroopers and 18 North Vietnamese troops were killed. The units of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade also reported 27 men wounded.

Two companies of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division clashed with a well-armed and entrenched force eight miles southwest of Dak To in midafternoon and fighting raged until just before dark.

The U.S. Command said 10 Americans were killed and 35 wounded. A spokesman said 102 Communists had been killed in scattered fighting around Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, in the past two days. Most were identified as North Vietnamese regulars.

As the ground fighting picked up, U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers took advantage of a break in the northeast monsoons Monday and flew through heavy Communist defenses to give North Vietnam's heartland its heaviest pounding in a week.

The American raiders attacked the sprawling Gia Thuong military storage area three miles northeast of the center of Hanoi for the first time in the war, shot down two MIG-17s during a strike on the Kep airfield 38 miles northeast of the capital, and attacked a vehicle repair plant nine miles north of Hanoi and the Hanoi transformer station for the first time since last May.

Although Hanoi claimed five U.S. planes were shot down, the U.S. Command reported only one loss, an F105 Thunderchief it said was brought down by ground fire northwest of Hanoi. The pilot was listed as missing in action. It was the 727th American combat plane officially reported lost over the North.

In the coastal lowlands, a Korean spokesman said, an estimated 300 North Vietnamese army regulars moved out of a hideout in the Ho Neo mountains and had been threatening Korean units for the last two weeks.

The spokesman said Korean forces pursued the Communists and caught up with them near two villages only about two miles from the Koreans' base area.

Fighting which broke out continued until about noon today, the spokesman said.

Fair to partly cloudy with a gradual warming trend through Wednesday. Low tonight near 30. High Wednesday mid 50s.

The temperature Tuesday was 28 at 7 a.m., and 50 at noon. Low Monday night was 24.

The temperature one year ago today was high 76; low 58.

Lake of Ozark stage: 60.0 feet; full reservoir. No change.

Presents Industrial Report

The October report of William H. Hall, director of the Department of Industrial Development of Sedalia, was read to the City Council at its meeting Monday night.

The report was as follows: "As most people are aware, the month of October was a big month for Sedalia and the Industrial Department.

"During the first part of the month a representative of the Missouri Division of Commerce & Industrial Development, Research Section, was in the office of the Director and the Chamber of Commerce to begin work on an economic impact survey. The survey has to do with the effect that the Missouri State Fair as on the community and is being coordinated with Chamber of Commerce efforts. This is as a result of Governor Hearnes' request to the Chamber Manager during State Fair Week.

On October 10 and 11 the Director, along with the Manager of the Chamber of Commerce and the Mayor, as well as other citizens in the community, attended the Community Betterment Conference in Jefferson City. At that time the Director submitted to the Commission of CID an application for a bond election for the expansion of the Rival Manufacturing Company. Needless to say, this has been the big news for the rest of the month and has occupied most of the time on the part of the Department of Industrial Development. However, during this time the Department has had three new prospect files set up and the Director has visited with a prospect in Northwest Missouri, as well as having had a prospect visit the community to look over the industrial opportunities here.

Sedalia stands on the threshold of doing great things industrially. Not only is it important that the bond issue

'Cactus Jack' Dies in Texas

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — John Nance Garner, former vice president of the United States, died in the bedroom of his home here today. He was 98.

"It was just old age," a companion said.

"Cactus Jack" Garner, President Franklin D. Roosevelt's vice president from 1932 until 1940 when the two men split over the third-term issue, had been gradually failing for several hours, the companion, Don Large, 24, said.

"I was holding his hand when he went. He didn't have no (sic) last words. His eyes were open to the last—he wasn't sleeping," said Large.

With Large at the side of the hospital-type bed in Garner's bedroom at the last were a doctor, Garner's son Tully and a granddaughter.

Garner's last years were quiet ones, whiled away in the tending of his pecan trees and the feeding of his turkeys around his house.

His birthdays were annual highlights, attracting the press and friends from distant points.

Last Nov. 22, on his 98th birthday, Cactus Jack told well-wishers: "When you're 98, you've got to be feeling either real good or real bad. I'm feeling real good. I've just got two years to go to make 100—it should be easy.

Large, a Uvalde man who said he has been Garner's salaried companion for four years, spoke in a halting, trembling voice of his employer's last hours.

"Earlier in the morning, he'd told me he loved me. I guess those were his last words. I reciprocated. He was the greatest. There'll never be another like him," said Large.

In the bedroom, beside Garner's bed, was a rollaway bed where Large often had spent the night.

Control Of Board Shifts

Carl W. Yates, Jr., president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, was elected to the board of Rental Industries, Inc., Monday at the annual stockholders meeting in Wichita, Kan.

The election places control of the 5-man board in the hands of Carl W. Yates, Jr.

Sedalia interests for the first time. Other Sedalia members of the board are William R. Parkhurst, president, and Mike O'Connor, treasurer.

The two remaining members are Howard Harrison, Wichita, and Carl Sutton, Nashville, Tenn.

Rental Industries, Inc., is the holding company for Nationwide Trailer Rental System, a wholly-owned subsidiary. Nationwide has more than 3,000 outlets coast to coast and is one of the leading rental companies in the nation.

The election of Yates is in keeping with other recent moves to consolidate operations of Nationwide in Sedalia. Last week Parkhurst signed a lease agreement with the Chamber of Commerce to acquire a building and tract of land in the Industrial Park for expansion of his operations.

"Management is very pleased to have gained this third seat for Sedalia," Parkhurst said regarding the election of Yates.

Yates pledged his support to the growth and welfare of Rental Industries, Inc., and said he was proud to take a seat on the board.

"The future of Nationwide couldn't look brighter, considering its position in a great, growth industry," he added.

Two Large Trucks In Collision

Drivers Escape Serious Injury Near Ottumwa

An International truck, loaded with used and recapped tires, FA Ford Diesel, pulling a 30,000 pound earth moving tractor on a flat boy, were demolished in a headon collision at Ottumwa on U.S. Highway 50 about 3:45 p.m. Monday, and a 1964 Dodge sedan received a slight damaged left rear fender, in a crash. The two drivers escaped with minor injuries in a crash which caused witnesses to feel that one driver was crushed.

Orin Eugene Cardwell, 32, Marshfield, Mo., driver of the tire truck, edged his way through what was left of the windshield opening Charles Albert Williams, 55, Raytown, driver of the Ford, walked away from their units. Alf Wolf, 73, driver of the Dodge was uninjured, but was shaken from his experience.

Cardwell was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing Ambulance where Dr. Elliott Braverman examined him and treated him for a bruised left shoulder and numerous small cuts, none of a serious nature. He was released from the hospital.

According to the State Highway Patrol, Cardwell was headed west on 50 in a truck of the Crawford Tire Shop of Marshfield; Williams, driving the Ford and flat boy trailer, was headed east. Williams' unit belongs to the Clarkson Construction Co., of Kansas City.

The Patrol reported the Dodge sedan driven by Wolf pulled out from the D-X Service station onto the highway. Williams in an endeavor to miss the car pulled out to go around, sounded his air horn and set his air brakes. The Ford "clipped" the left rear fender, but continued on. Cardwell, seeing the big unit coming to his side of the highway, applied his brakes, but the two units crashed, the Ford going northward on to the shoulder and the International truck truck, badly wrecked by the crash and the large earth moving machine, broke loose and rolled forward crashing into the cab of the International truck, but missed the cab of the Ford which was pulling it.

Orin Eugene Cardwell, 32, Marshfield, driver of the tire truck, suffered a bruised left shoulder and slight cuts, while Charles A. Williams, 55, Raytown, the driver of the Ford, was unhurt.

Romney Must Rope In Support

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney's expected early announcement of his GOP presidential nomination candidacy appears directed at locking in wavering supporters and offsetting his slide in popularity polls.

An announcement by the Michigan governor that he is in the running seems likely to guarantee him continued public support of his cause by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, at least until next spring's presidential primaries. Romney has said he'll announce his decision Nov. 18.

There has been concern within the Rockefeller camp about Romney's recent public performances and about his ability to mount a convincing campaign not only for the nomination but for the presidency if he wins the party's nod.

Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., reportedly have agreed that if Romney becomes a formal candidate they will stick with him until the spring primaries provide some assessment of his vote-getting ability.

In the meantime they intend to watch closely how he performs in the campaign and how he handles the sticky policy questions that he would face almost daily after an announcement. It is no secret that Rockefeller and Javits are less than pleased by Romney's performance to date in fielding tough policy questions.

They think, however, that his position in the popularity polls will improve if he is a declared candidate who shows he means business and displays some concrete qualifications for the nation's top job.

A declaration would give Romney some official status on a trip he announced Monday he will take to West and East Europe, the Middle East, South Asia, including South Vietnam, and the Far East from Dec. 7 until early January.

He said he will "explore international problems through exchanges of views with foreign government and other leaders" but will make no speeches and hold no news conferences. If despite this effort to bone up on foreign affairs Romney stumbles badly in the campaign or in the primaries Rockefeller and Javits may have to scramble quickly to find another moderate to support.

This would assume that the New York governor persists in his public and private avowals that he won't himself become involved in the contest.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas keeps beating the drums for his brother, calling him a "formidable candidate" for the presidency, a conclusion the poll-takers support at the moment.

The Arkansas governor also suggested Monday at a New York news conference that Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., would make a good GOP vice presidential candidate. He called Percy "a thoughtful person who has interesting and exciting ideas."

Disclaiming any current vice presidential ambitions, Percy said he was grateful for Winthrop Rockefeller's "kind words."

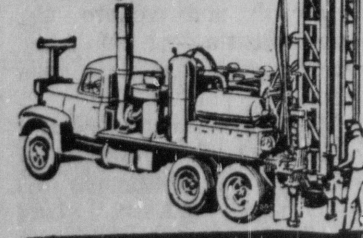

Asked about California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has been suggested for a second man on a ticket headed by New York's governor, Winthrop Rockefeller said Reagan's views are too divergent from those of his brother.

The Arkansas governor dismissed the potential candidacy of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, saying "voters are tiring of him."

But a poll by Louis Harris, published Monday by The Washington Post, showed Nixon running ahead of President Johnson in popularity for the first time. The Harris Poll also reported its survey showed that currently, Johnson would be defeated by five other GOP presidential prospects: Nelson Rockefeller, Romney, Reagan, Percy and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

The Gallup Poll also reported Monday that Johnson's popularity is at an all-time low, with 50 per cent of those surveyed disapproving of his actions, 38 per cent approving and 12 per cent with no opinion.

Billions Involved

Senate Begins Dipping Into the Pork Barrel

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate this week begins considering $52 million worth of pork barrel projects that could carry an ultimate price tag of $4.1 billion.

The $52 million—included in a $4.7 billion package of public works bills—is the first-year cost of construction starts, new planning starts and the extension of planning projects begun in previous years.

The ultimate cost of those is $4.1 billion—and it will swell the total commitment for pork barrel projects planned or under construction to $15.2 billion.

The dictionary defines pork barrel as a government project yielding rich patronage benefits. Included are the dams, power projects, levee work and harbor construction so dear to a congressman's vote-getting heart.

For a Congress that has talked economy, the final bill is a huge escalation of comparatively modest administration proposals.

President Johnson recommended nine new construction starts that would have cost $7.4 million in the fiscal year that began July 1. Their cost on completion years hence would have totaled nearly $153 million.

The House rejected 4 projects, but added 16 new starts of its own. The 1968 cost of the proposed House projects—$5.5 million. Ultimate cost—$93 million.

Mrs. Kennedy Continues Her Tour

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy toured the ornate royal palace of Cambodia today, then standing there under a gilded parasol in the tropical sun gingerly fed bananas and sugar cane to two sacred elephants.

Escorted by ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the widow of President Kennedy paid a courtesy visit to the prince's mother Sisowath Kossamak who is a "symbol of monarchy" in this nation's complicated court etiquette.

The visit to the palace with its spired roofs, ornate golden decorations brightly painted state rooms was a field day for photographers who have been waiting to catch Mrs. Kennedy against the colorful Cambodian backgrounds.

Standing on the palace balcony beside her, the prince yelled down at the swarming photographers to give the elephants room, and said, "You might upset them."

The prince, whose press is daily spiced with accusations of American "criminal imperialism," again put aside such sentiments in a gesture of goodwill toward the late president's memory.

He even proudly presented his 7-year-old granddaughter, Princess Sisowath Moni Kosoma, dressed in a bright pink tutu, who did a few classical ballet steps for Mrs. Kennedy.

As gifts to take home for her children, Caroline and John Jr., Mrs. Kennedy received a beautiful set of Cambodian dolls in various costumes.

In return, Mrs. Kennedy presented the prince's mother a silver framed photograph of herself, President Kennedy, John Jr., and Caroline taken in an informal atmosphere at their home at Hyannisport, Mass., a few months before the president's death.

The feeding of the royal elephants came after a brief formal reception in the long gilded throne room.

Soviet Damper In U.N.

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Western hopes that a compromise resolution circulated by the United States might break the Middle East stalemate in the United Nations were dimmed today by Soviet rejection of the proposal.

Soviet sources said the American plan, which calls for positive action by both Israel and the Arabs, was unacceptable because it gives the Arabs less support than an earlier draft proposed by six African, Asian and Latin American members of the Security Council.

It could not be learned whether the United States would modify the wording of its draft to meet Communist objections or withdraw it. A British spokesman predicted that in any case it was a "fair bet" that the 15-nation council would meet on the Arab-Israeli conflict before the week is over.

Informed sources said the American plan, like that of the six nations, calls on Israel to withdraw from Arab soil seized in the June war. But it also seeks action by the Arabs to end their 19-year-old state of belligerency against Israel.

The informants said the draft also authorized sending a U.N. representative to the Middle East to try to work out a settlement but did not bind him to specific instructions.

The United States began circulating its plan after the big powers had held weekend consultations with Arab and Israeli leaders.

The major powers took over the problem after the 10 nonpermanent members of the council reported Friday that they had failed to agree among themselves on council action.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg was reported to have consulted on Saturday and Sunday with Lord Caradon, Britain's U.N. representative. King Hussein of Jordan, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad of Jordan.

A RECENT enlistee in the Navy, Danny G. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Davis of 1400 State Fair Blvd., is undergoing basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois. Upon completion of training in Mid-December, Danny will be granted 14 days leave prior to reporting to his next duty assignment.

Eban flew to London and met with British Foreign Secretary George Brown. He was due back in New York today.

Attempts by the 10 nonpermanent council members broke down after they tried to reach a compromise between two rival plans.

One, drawn up by Argentina, Brazil, Ethiopia, India, Mali and Nigeria, advanced specific principles for a settlement and ordered the U.N. representative to work out a solution along those lines.

The other, put forward by Canada and Denmark, also called for a U.N. representative, but his assignment was couched in terms that the Arabs found too vague for their liking.

In Call For Guns, Butter

DETROIT (AP) — Auto Workers Union President Walter P. Reuther said today if agreement on a new contract is not reached with Chrysler Corp. by midnight Wednesday there "definitely will be a national strike."

"We will not make an extension," Reuther told newsmen as he emerged from a 14-hour bargaining session shortly after midnight, longest session since Reuther signaled the start of showdown bargaining by joining talks Saturday.

Reuther and John Leary, chief negotiator for the No. 3 automaker, said some progress had been made in fitting the recent settlement at Ford Motor Co. to the more complex Chrysler situation.

But Reuther said there had been "no movement at all" on resolving one of the central issues—wage parity for Canadian auto workers.

Reuther emphasized, however, that the parity question was only one of several issues that made rewriting the Ford pact difficult, although Chrysler has agreed in principle to most of its provisions which hiked by roughly $1 an hour the average Ford workers $4.70 in wages and benefits.

Leary and Reuther also agreed that today's session would be a long one, probably extending far past midnight.

Hails Power Of Negroes In Elections

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., told an annual NAACP fund-raising dinner Sunday night that the recent emergence of Negro political power as seen in local elections will have a large part in shaping America's future.

Conyers cited Mississippi as a state where voter registration went from nearly zero to 25 per cent of the registered vote. He said it was encouraging to see the struggle for freedom come from within the political structure.

The 24 million Negroes in the country spend $28 billion on consumer goods, Conyers said yet the nation loses some $16 billion dollars annually because most Negroes spend only as consumers, not capitalists.

Sally Sneed, a second year member, and Charles Fortune, a first year member, were given the blue ribbons by the Awards Committee.

Mrs. Ruth West Goes To London

Mrs. Ruth West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Corbett, 1112 East 19th, has left for London, England, to join her husband, Ray, and son, Kenny. They will be in England for approximately three years.

Mrs. West was formerly employed at Bothwell Hospital and Whiteman Air Force Base Hospital. She will continue nursing in England.

Mr. West is employed at Lakenheath Air Base and their son attends a branch of the University of Maryland there.

"HOUSE OF FLOWERS" NEW YORK (AP) — A revised version of "House of Flowers" is being prepared by Truman Capote.

The musical ran briefly on Broadway in 1955, but the man who wrote the story to a score by Harold Arlen feels that production got away from his original ideas of "a simple thing."

County Medal Winners

Herd Average For Holsteins

A new annual herd production average for milk and butterfat has been announced for the registered Holstein herd owned by Wallace F. Cordes, Sedalia.

As reported by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the herd has completed its latest testing year with an official per-cow average of 15,136 pounds of milk and 504 pounds of butterfat, based on 15 completed lactations.

The University of Missouri supervised the weighing and production testing procedures in cooperation with this breed improvement program of the Holstein organization.

This herd's performance level compares favorably to the average U.S. cow's annual output of 8,080 pounds of milk and 299 pounds of butterfat. Production averages are calculated on the common employed, two milkings per day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis to provide a comparison standard.

Compete For Film Industry

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film production away from Hollywood. Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson." With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 20 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures ballyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonora, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railroads.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona eased its workmen's compensation law and Colorado its state tax to encourage movie-making. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Why? Money, mostly. Stimulation of the local economy and tourist-attraction publicity.

In Moab, Utah—population 5,100—where Paramount filmed "Blue" and "Farewell to Manzanara" simultaneously this summer, the weekly Times-Independent reported: "Both bankers agree the monetary impact has upgraded the town's economy. Extra service has been established to facilitate check cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year."

"Old bills are being paid, almost all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with Paramount checks."

Druggists, barbers, motels and restaurants profited from the 200 Hollywood visitors and daily hiring of 100 to 125 local extras. Fiddle players, square-dance callers and wranglers were recruited through the state employment department. Pay ranged from $15 a day for walk-through extras to $20 for horseback riders.

"I wrote checks totaling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Kenny, production manager on the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school. They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Movie companies are required to remove sets built on location. But for $1 Kenny sold a Mexican street set on state land to a rancher, who planned to re-erect it on his own land and rent it to movie companies. "That saved us $10,000 to $15,000 in removal costs," said Kenny.

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally hired extras got about $40,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start if they can't bear sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Three films are on location this week in New York and one each in Miami; Selma, Ala.; Bracketville, Tex., and Sedona, Ariz. But, says the Moab weekly: "Motion picture filming business doesn't come accidentally—a town must go after it."

A Moab committee visits Hollywood annually to extend invitations and distribute color brochures of the town's red-rock scenery.

Priest Is 'Fed Up'

do something for the suffering of black people." Groppi addressed the Greater St. Louis Committee for Freedom of Residence. He is surrounded by members of the Milwaukee Commandos who accompanied him. (UPI)

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I married a wonderful bachelor. I was 42 and he was four years older. I considered myself lucky to get such a fine man, and I still do.

The problem is his older brother, Arnie. Arnie has had severe emotional problems all his life. Although there is another brother and two sisters in the family, my husband was the one who always made a home for Arnie. I knew when I married that this arrangement would have to continue. But Arnie was gentle and non-interfering and never created any problems, so I didn't mind.

The past year Arnie has become childlike and cannot be left alone for a minute. I must take him marketing, on all my errands, everywhere. I've had to give up bridge, club work, all the things I used to enjoy because I can't take Arnie with me and I can't leave him home alone.

I don't like to complain, but I am becoming a nervous wreck. Please give me an answer to this depressing problem. I feel like—A PRISONER IN MY HOME

Dear Prisoner: Arnie's sisters and brother should work out a program to relieve you, and your husband should call them together and tell them. They should take Arnie to their homes or come to your home and stay with him, or hire paid help to do so. In my opinion, three days a week would be about right.

If they are absolutely no good and refuse to help, by all means hire a sitter for Arnie and return to your social and community activities before your husband has to hire someone to sit with you.

Dear Ann Landers: I share a duplex with a nut. We both rent. This woman has two cats. One is a Persian who wears a diaper when she runs loose in the house. The other is a cross-eyed Maltese who is famous for her contact lenses. If you think I am kidding let me assure you that I am not. The nut has already been written up in the papers because of the cat with the contact lenses.

My problem is that the cats are supposed to sleep in their boxes which are in the back hall. Instead, they prefer my baby's carriage. I've asked the woman 10 times to please keep the cats in her kitchen but she says it is not sanitary. When I asked how sanitary it is for her cats to sleep in my baby's carriage she replied, "My cats are cleaner than your baby."

You're the gal with the answers. Have you one for me?—SIZZLING

India Will Be Discussed By Speaker

A story of India from the viewpoint of an anthropologist and sociologist will be told to members of the Sedalia Knife and Fork club at a dinner meeting in the Bothwell Hotel at 7 o'clock Friday night.

The speaker will be Dr. Charles L. Swan, chairman of the Albion (Mich.) College Sociology Department. He was born in India of missionary parents and spent most of his youth there. He returned to India several times and spent nearly 14 years in that country since receiving his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Swan has studied the effects of industrialization in the Damodar Valley area on workers who migrate from neighboring Indian regions to work in coal fields, steel mills and factories.

He is also a member of the Michigan conference of the Methodist church.

Waste Not...and Want Not

"Never have so few federal employees received so much pay," said Rep. Edward J. Gurney, Republican of Florida, introducing an amendment in the U.S. House of Representatives to exclude the 2,700 employees of the Office of Economic Opportunity from participation in the federal pay raise bill.

"I think it will be a popular decision with the people back home," said Gurney.

Supporting the amendment, Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., maintained that the poverty war is benefiting the warriors and not the poverty-stricken.

The only thing better than freezing the pay of the warriors, he said, would be to eliminate the entire poverty war budget bill—"in the sad event" that it gets on the floor in the current session.

The amendment was adopted by a vote of 86 to 68.

At about the same time the House was taking this action, the Republican mayors of 22 cities around the country, containing more than 14 million people, petitioned the minority leaders of both houses to support the President's request for $2.06 billion to wage the war on poverty in fiscal 1968.

"It is our considered opinion," stated the mayors in a telegram, "that the programs (of the Office of Economic Opportunity) are a positive force in lessening social tensions in our cities. All of us are confident they will continue to improve and are so meaningful as to give our less fortunate citizens a new hope in life...

"The strong leadership provided by this agency in administering the various projects has been most impressive."

Not to some people, gentlemen. Not to those who believe that the war on poverty is more lucrative for the warriors than it is for the underprivileged for whom the battles are supposed to be waged.

No matter how impressive the 22 Republican mayors say the poverty project functions, skeptics don't seem to agree.

Meanwhile, the people back home continue to wait for vigorous congressional action in the face of recurrent revelations about fantastic waste in another area—the almost sacrosanct defense budget of some $70 billion.

Soviet Changes From Police State

—AUTO EXHAUST LOBBYING—

On October 25 Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that the automobile lobby was using Rep. John Dingell of Detroit to weaken the air pollution bill in regard to California smog by proposing to require California to accept milder auto exhaust standards.

The column aroused considerable discussion in Congress and denials by Rep. Dingell.

On Nov. 2 Congress voted overwhelmingly against Dingell and the Detroit auto lobby in favor of giving California the right of tougher anti-smog measures.

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When I first visited the Soviet Union in 1922, it was then a wobbly conglomeration of Russian regions held together by a handful of Bolshevik leaders whom the United States did its best to overthrow, first by sending troops under Woodrow Wilson to Murmansk in the Arctic and to Siberia; second, by boycotting the new regime under Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

It was not until sixteen years after the Russian revolution, whose 50th anniversary the world notes today, that the United States under Roosevelt recognized that the Soviet Union even existed.

I have been to the Soviet Union four times since my first trip to Siberia in 1922. I have seen it as a police state where I was shadowed every minute and once arrested for taking pictures and in which the military commander I interviewed in Harbarovsk, Gen. Teronim Uborievitch, was later shot by Stalin. I have seen it change to a nation now strong enough to permit criticism by its own citizens, promiscuous photography, fairly free foreign travel, and with an economic and military might which rivals the United States.

At one time during the Eisenhower administration a delegation of American education experts reported that the Soviet public school system in many respects was ahead of ours.

This was an unpopular and unpalatable report to the American people because, through early years of propaganda and later years of suspicion encouraged by J. Edgar Hoover, we have been taught to believe that nothing about Russia was good and that the entire system was certain to collapse of its own weight.

—AMERICANS STILL SUSPICIOUS—

This suspicion was so deep that when I came back from a two-day talk with Khrushchev in 1961 to report that he was potentially a good friend of the United States, I was called a Communist by some people, including one publisher of a California newspaper whom I sued and from whom I collected an apology plus damages.

This suspicion has been nurtured so long and runs so deep that when I was in the Dakotas last month several people remarked suspiciously on the articles in the New York Times, Life and Look magazines summarizing Soviet achievements during fifty years. They thought the articles were Soviet propaganda.

It was this suspicion that nearly defeated the confirmation of the U. S.-Soviet Consular Treaty even though it was the United States which asked Moscow for this pact in order to put a U.S. consulate in Leningrad, and even though the Russians actually were not enthusiastic about negotiating the treaty.

Finally, it is this suspicion that hampers the basic policy initiated by John F. Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev after the Cuban missile crisis, of better understanding between the world's two most powerful nations. It was their belief that if the only two nations with large nuclear stockpiles could work together, there would be no World War III.

President Johnson has continued and broadened this policy, and was hopeful of going to Moscow personally. He has negotiated a non-proliferation pact with Russia, a Moscow-New York air agreement, has worked on the preservation of fishing banks, has held friendly conferences with Foreign Minister Gromyko and Premier Kosygin, and persuaded the best man he could find, Llewellyn Thompson, to go back to Moscow as Ambassador.

—SORE SPOTS—

Russian-American relations, however, have hit two serious snags. Each affects the other.

Snag No. 1 is the war in Vietnam, especially the bombing of North Vietnam. This bombing was started on Feb. 7, 1965, one day after Kosygin arrived in Hanoi to start conversations with the North Vietnamese toward peace. The peace talks had the props knocked out from under them. Naturally Kosygin, together with all of the Kremlin leaders, was sore. They have now vowed to continue sending supplies to North Vietnam as long as the war continues.

Snag No. 2 is the fact that the United States gives very few concessions to the pro-American clique in the Kremlin which it can use as proof of our friendship. As a result, the anti-Americans keep badgering the pro-Americans, pointing out that friendship cannot be a one-way street, that the Soviet Union can't make all the concessions.

This one-way street argument is not as true today as it was before. President Johnson has offered various olive branches to the Russians, such as jointly administered foreign aid to the underdeveloped countries, and an agreement not to build an anti-ballistic missile defense system.

However, Leonid Breshnev, who is reported to head the anti-American clique (Kosygin leads the pro-American clique) can always point to the Vietnam war as a sign of American aggression. His arguments appear to win the day.

As the Soviet celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution today, its weapons are probably stronger than ever before in history, its leaders worried, its policy suspicious, but it is my observation that the Russian people are ready to become the firm friends of the American people if we can clear away the problems of Southeast Asia.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

W. H. McCall, president and general manager of Sweet Hotels, Inc., and Al Tracy, manager of Hotel Bothwell, are supervising the arrangement and decoration of the Ambassador and Peacock rooms and mezzanine floor, for the opening of an officers' club for the use of officers of the Army Air Base, near Knob Noster. The club is being sponsored by the Sedalia unit of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, chairman.

Brainstorming Better City Rule

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA)

Before answering reader mail, we would like to take a moment to congratulate Mayor Lindsay of New York for having hired the Rand Corporation to plan a more effective and economic system of city government.

The Rand Corporation, of course, is the nation's leading think-tank—a nonprofit group of long-range scientists and planners who got their basic training by helping devise U.S. military strategy during World War II.

Their postwar work has included thinking out such long-range problems as the effect of population on food and water supply, as well as devising such nuclear age defense systems as "Operation Overkill."

And now, to see that the largest city in the nation has retained just that sort of an organization to devise a more effective and economic system of municipal government—well, it gives renewed hope and encouragement to the work we are trying to do here at the Institute.

And now, a peak into the mailbag:
DEAR DR. CANNEL: I am the president of a railroad which is losing money even though it transports thousands of commuters and freight to and from the city every day. What can I do about this problem?

ANSWER: Yours is a common problem and very easily solved. Simply send to us here at the Institute for the popular and informative booklet: "Streamline Your Railroad." Specify the edition which explains how to get rid of passengers.

DEAR DR. CANNEL: Can you please let me know what to do by return mail? A new scientific study reveals that in my city there are more rats than people.

ANSWER: Nothing, if it is a simple majority. If it is an overwhelming number, you will have to put at least one rat on the city council.

DEAR DR. CANNEL: Your instruction booklet on getting rid of commuters has cut my railroad's costs in half. But it is still running in the red. What can be done?

ANSWER: Send to us here at the Institute for the popular and informative booklet: "Streamline Your Railroad." Specify Part II, which explains how to get rid of carrying freight.

DEAR DR. CANNEL: In a just-finished urban redevelopment program in a small city, my firm of planners somehow managed to do away with all apartment houses and other dwelling space. What should I do?

ANSWER: Nothing. Your job there is now finished, and you are ready to take on larger clients. Send to us here at the Institute for a complete list of cities in need of redevelopment.

DEAR DR. CANNEL: The high school in our city has a ration of one teacher for every 95 pupils. What can be done about this situation?

ANSWER: In cases like yours, the Institute usually recommends moving the school to Puerto Rico where help is cheaper, or if that is impossible, you can try making one of the bigger kids principal.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Early Signs of Leukemia Often Found in Mouth

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Early telltale signs of diseases affecting the entire body system can often be found in and around the mouth. For instance, in acute leukemia almost half of those afflicted have some sort of gum trouble.

Leukemia is a disease of the blood, commonly called blood cancer. It has an insidious nature, especially in the chronic phase, because it usually runs an irregular course, patients getting better and worse at intervals, but almost always terminating fatally.

It has long been known that early signs of leukemia can often be found in and around the mouth. This was confirmed by a recent study in which 30 to 40 per cent of patients with acute leukemic disease consistently showed some degree of:

1. Swollen gums, sometimes getting so large they covered much of the teeth.
2. Hemorrhages inside the gums, giving them a black and blue or, sometimes, a magenta coloration.
3. Sores and ulcerations of the gums.
4. Bleeding with little or no provocation.

5. Swelling of lymph glands in the neck.

Other, less serious diseases may also seem to exhibit some or all of these signs, but when present they are suspect of leukemia and demand complete blood and physical exam.

Your dentist is trained to recognize these findings and help make a differential diagnosis. But everyone should be alert to any changes in and around the mouth.

Swollen glands in the neck can easily be seen by patients. Look in a mirror and stretch your neck upward. If your glands are enlarged, they will be prominent. Don't keep feeling and pressing them; consider them a warning to see your doctor.

Wonder drugs are increasing the life span of leukemia sufferers, and decreasing severity of the disease. Even cures have been claimed. Again the mouth plays an important role, since some of the promising new drugs needed in large enough doses to fight the disease, have limited use because they produce severe inflammation in mouth and throat.

Bridge experts use numerous special artificial conventions for one reason and one reason only. That reason is that they want to win, and they know that they can't win without them. Everyone needs an ace showing method. Blackwood is the most popular but there are others that have one thing in common. Each one is better than no convention at all.

In response to no-trump, we all use some artificial set of responses, and against no-trump we need some artificial method to get into the bidding.

The most popular of these is the Landy convention, named after Alvin Landy, the man who ran the American Contract Bridge League for the last 20 years. National tournaments aren't going to be the same without Alvin around to keep things going and to keep everybody happy, or at least as happy as possible.

The Landy convention is a simple one. Specifically, when an opponent opens one no-trump, you bid two clubs to show both major suits. In the back-in position you don't need much of a hand to make this bid.

The Landy convention made it possible for today's North to reopen safely after East's no-trump was passed around to him. South responded with two spades and proceeded to make four odd with some mild help from the defense.

Declarer won the club lead with his jack, returned to dummy with the ace and led a low heart. East rose with the king and proceeded to play ace and one spade. South won in his hand, led another trump to dummy's king, ruffed East's ace of hearts, discarded one diamond on the king of clubs and finally conceded one diamond trick.

The World Today

Time of Violence After Revolution

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's been like watching a Russian bear eat an electric light bulb.

Surprise, convulsions, indigestion. Internal bleeding, thrashing around half out of mind and digestion restored have all been part of the process since the Bolsheviks took over the Russian revolution 50 years ago today.

Surprise—The Bolsheviks were caught flat-footed, unprepared for the takeover when the revolution began. They got themselves together, grabbed their chance, and communism has been in charge since.

Convulsion—The beginning was dreadful: The struggle with the other factions were split and indecisive; civil war; and economic collapse.

Indigestion—Lenin and his Bolsheviks started out as the apostles of Karl Marx. But they twisted Marxism to suit their needs. And Lenin even partly restored capitalism for a while.

Internal bleeding—From the beginning there was a blood bath. It became a hemorrhage in the 1930s with Stalin's purges and executions, his device for eliminating rivals, real or imaginary.

Half out of mind—Stalin was a mental case, one of the most vicious in history, who reigned through terror for 29 years from the time Lenin died in 1924 until his own death in 1953.

But while terror was his weapon, power was his language. Under him a primitive nation became a world power, with all that meant. For only a brief moment the United States had a nuclear monopoly. Stalin quickly broke it.

Digestion restored—With Stalin's death, some sanity was restored, restrictions were eased, and the Soviet Union began to look a little more like a civilized society, starting with Nikita Khrushchev, later dumped, in the 1950s.

After all this agony the most obvious question, one which must fill every other nation with apprehension, is: What will happen inside the Soviet Union and what will it do in these next 50 years?

No one in his right mind will try to predict it. Through their whole history the Russian people have known nothing but submission to autocracies, some more fierce and bloody than others.

At the moment power is divided among the leaders but nevertheless centered in them. Internal struggles for power among them could resurrect the nightmares of the past 50 years. The people are asserting themselves a little more, although feebly. Bit by bit they may get more of the freedom they want. Eventually, if the Soviet Union follows the road of the great revolutions of modern times, there will be democracy.

The most civilizing and restraining force in Soviet history in recent times is fear—fear of nuclear war with the United States which reciprocates the same fear.

In time the Soviet Union may surpass the United States as the world's No. 1 industrial power—it's No. 2 now—with increasing prosperity for its people. But the Soviet Union has also suffered a shattering defeat. For most of the past 50 years it not only dominated world communism but the world's thinking about it.

Will it manage to team up with the Red Chinese against the rest of the world or, out of fear of China, will it cozy up to the United States and the West in search of allies against Red China?

Letter to Editor

WILLIAM H. COPAS (Business Manager, Local Union No. 814, I.B.E.W.)—The position of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 814, on strike against Missouri Public Service Company, is not untenable. These union members are responsible citizens, active and interested in their community and proud of their company affiliation. They voted to strike only after exhausting all possible efforts at an equitable wage settlement with MPS. Statistics can be misleading, and some statistics recently quoted to the public need clarification.

Missouri Public Service Company did offer a wage increase of 7½ per cent and this is 3½ per cent above the present national average wage increase for workers in the electrical industry. However, present wages for Local 814, IBEW Union members are far below the average which is $3.67. The average hourly wage in the North-Central area is even higher, $3.75. These averages are based on February 1966 figures and it can be assumed the average hourly wage has risen during this nearly two year period. For example, in this area alone are three utility companies whose wage scales are considerably above that of MPS and the U.S. Department of Labor bulletin's quoted 1966 statistics. Kansas City Power and Light linemen presently draw $4.42 per hour and can expect an increase next July when their present contract expires. Linemen for Missouri Power and Light now receive $3.71 and will benefit from two wage increases in 1968 which will take their hourly wage over $4.00. Independence Power and Light pays its linemen $4.31 per hour and they are presently negotiating a wage increase. Compare this with the $3.42 currently paid MPS linemen and it is clear that even a 7½ per cent wage increase this year would leave their hourly wage below the national average and below wages for this area by a great deal. Clearly, comparing this wage proposal with the national average wage increase percentage is invalid when the national wage itself is considered.

Because of their awareness of responsibility to the Company, and to the public, union members have accepted Company-Union contract negotiations for several years and have subsequently seen an increasingly wider gap arise between their wages and wages in the industry as a whole. A strike, admittedly undesirable, became necessary to rectify a situation where an MPS linemen works for $1.00 less an hour than the lineman across the street as happens in Kansas City and surrounding areas. Another factor in this situation is the rising cost of living. A nationally known economist, Sylvia Porter, in a recent column, stated that with the increase in the cost of living, added social security deductions and the proposed sur-tax, the American worker who receives a $500 wage increase in 1967 will have to put $2.00 with it just to break even.

Local 814 members have willingly offered to assist in emergencies at no expense to the Company or the public. They hoped this situation would not be necessary and extended the present contract for 15 days so that the Union and Company representatives could meet with a federal mediator to arrive at an equitable decision. They voted to strike only when all these efforts failed.

The above information clearly states the Union's position in this matter.

Plenty of Headaches From the Sonic Boom

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A boom of another kind, not an economic boom but one whose impact and mechanics may be even more readily understood, will burst upon our heads in the 1970s.

This is the sonic boom, a blast of sound waves created when aircraft fly faster than the speed of sound. It can shatter plate glass, plaster and other property, but above all it can shatter nerves of man and animal.

It is also perhaps the greatest headache that lies ahead for builders and operators of the huge commercial jets that are expected to be soaring through the skies at speeds of more than 1,800 miles an hour.

British, French, Soviet and U.S. interests are now working on their models, all of which will be sleek, comfortable and quiet within, but incredibly loud without.

As a result, mankind is presented now with another round in the endless contest with the products of his own technology. The contest is clearly defined: man demands speed in going from one place to another; he has an innate urge, often unsatisfied, to peace and quiet also.

Will the noise be banned? Or will man be forced to listen?

The expert opinion now concludes that the loud plane will win. They feel there is an inevitability about it, for technology generally has won in the past, as witness the air, water and sound pollution that already exists.

For the present anyway, federal officials feel the public can adjust to the noise, citing as evidence man's adjustment to the introduction of other brand-new noises in the past.

"Individuals tend to accommodate themselves to an initially disturbing noise once it becomes a pattern of daily life, the Federal Aviation Agency says.

"There are noises today in cities and in small towns that are taken for granted which, if they were introduced as new noises, would cause disturbances for an initial period of time," the agency adds.

This conclusion provokes outraged rebuttals from sociologists, medical men, property owners and residents who live near airports, all of whom contend that although man may tolerate air noises, his adjustment to them is less than perfect.

The problem of shock waves also is causing great concern among some of the insurance fraternity, who feel they will be deluged with claims for damage, much of which they will be unable to prove or disprove as caused by the boom.

Proof of damage from sonic blasts has been fairly easy to establish so far because tests have been restricted to precise geographical areas.

During tests in St. Louis six years ago more than 1,600 claims were filed and more than 800 of them were declared valid. Claims also were allowed for damage in tests at Oklahoma City and Chicago.

What happens, however, when several huge supersonic commercial craft fly coast to coast, over city and farm, leaving behind a 50-mile swath boom? Legal and insurance chaos perhaps.

The alternative, now being considered and studied by engineers, is a modification of the craft that would reduce, but not eliminate, the boom. So far, nobody has been able to muffle the noise completely.

TV Left Behind By Actor

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The real hang-up of being in motion pictures is trying to find the material. If you find the right property, the time is not available. If you have all the time in the world, the property's not there."

Richard Crenna speaking. You probably remember him as Walter Denton, the scratchy-voiced adolescent on "Our Miss Brooks" with Eve Arden. He played the role from age 21 to 27 on radio and from 27 to 30 on television.

"I had," cracks Crenna, still able to affect the Walter Denton squeak for laughs, "a very delayed puberty."

"Slattery's People," in its 1½ years on television, broke the adolescent mold for him and led to meaty movie roles: ramrod gunboat captain in "The Sand Pebbles," compassionate heavy in "Wait Until Dark" and Julie Andrews' husband in "Star!"

At 41 Crenna looks back on 30 solid years as an actor—ever since he walked across the street from junior high and got a comedy role on Radio Station KFI's "Boy Scout Jamboree." The years have been "a lot of fun," and in all of them he missed only eight days of school, including the University of Southern California.

Six feet one, blue-eyed and no night clubber, he lives in the San Fernando Valley with his wife and three children. Between films he engages in do-it-yourself home projects and reading scripts, five of which he had turned down in six weeks.

"Actors are more selective now than they used to be," Crenna reflected. "It's a business now. Actors have to plan for next year—and the year after that."

"To me, that's what stardom represents—selectivity. But I'll probably do some bombs—and be as selective in choosing them as any others."

"You can't look back. My wife has helped me make decisions, saying, 'Your original instincts usually are right.' Instinctively, I've been pretty good to myself. But I hope I never reach a plateau and stay there. I hope to advance myself with each film in some way—artistically or economically."

"Everything you do can't be great. But you have to go in feeling you can make a 100 per cent contribution of your talent. An actor just doing a part for the money isn't giving the producer his money's worth."

House at Stake

Democratic Targets Sought by the GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are gearing up extensive surveys to target soft spots in Democratic ranks for a $1 million GOP assault in next year's battle for control of the House.

The aim, as explained by GOP strategists, is to pinpoint lackluster Democratic congressmen who get low personality—or recognition—ratings from the voters back home and thus may be vulnerable to an attack by a well-known Republican.

The strategy, said Rep. Bob Wilson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, involves a shift of emphasis from a political seek-and-destroy strategy based on statistics to one zeroing in on personalities.

The GOP group previously channeled its funds and efforts at "target districts" where Democrats had won their House seats by no more than five per cent of the vote.

To plot the 1968 Republican assault on Democratic House control, "We're getting set up to conduct surveys in depth far beyond what we've ever done," said Wilson, a California Republican.

These surveys, he said in an interview, will be designed to measure a Democrat's potential weakness with the voters by gathering this kind of information about him:

"How many newsletters does he send back home; does he make a television-radio report to his district; is he doing his homework; how well known is he in his district?"

While trying to locate weak Democrats, Wilson said, the GOP group is conducting a talent search to find strong Republicans to throw against them.

"It's all based on the old political saw, you can't beat somebody with a nobody," he said. And in this, the Republicans acknowledge, the name's the thing.

Rep. Robert B. "Bob" Mathias, who won the Olympic decathlon in 1948 and 1952, was "better known in his district than the seven-term Democrat he defeated" when Mathias won a California seat in the House in 1966, Wilson said.

But the Republicans insist they are not confining their talent hunt to peering at old movies in hopes of finding more George Murphys, Ronald Reagans or Shirley Temple Blacks, or scanning Olympic records for another Mathias.

"We're really out on a talent search for outstanding guys," he said. "We're not going to put our money on the line until we know the capabilities of the candidate."

The GOP congressional committee says it now has about $500,000 in its war chest and expects to have $1 million by campaign time.

But the Republicans acknowledge privately that wrestling control of the House from the Democrats is easier to predict than to do.

"It's going to be hard," said one strategist. "Most of the soft touches were beaten last year. But I think we have a 50-50 chance. Picking up 31 seats shouldn't be too difficult."

Democrats now outnumber the GOP by 61 members, 247 to 186. There are two vacancies in the 435-member House resulting from the death of J. Arthur Younger, R-Calif., and the exclusion of Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

SARATOGA AUDIENCE BIGGER

SARATOGA, N.Y. (AP) — The Saratoga Performing Arts Center announced an increase in paid attendance during its second season, July and August 1967.

In its first season, paid attendance in the outdoor amphitheater for 41 performances averaged 3,114 persons per performance. This year, paid attendance was up approximately 17 percent, with 54 performances and an average of 3,610 persons per performance.

Of the 54 performances, 24 were by the New York City Ballet and 19 by the Philadelphia Orchestra. Best attendance was 13,533 paid admissions by Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass.

Baritone's Schedule Figured by the Stars

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Krause is an opera star who looks to the heavenly stars for career guidance.

The brilliant young Finnish baritone, who received an ovation at his Metropolitan Opera debut this season, is a firm believer in the occult sciences, particularly astrology.

"Both my wife and I have studied it for years," he said. "It may be psychological, it may be hogwash, but I have found that for me it works. It works positively, and it works negatively."

Krause, who said astrology had helped him to give up smoking, tries to arrange his concerts and recordings — he's recognized as possibly the world's finest interpreter of the songs of Sibelius, the Finnish composer — when his horoscope is most favorable.

"If that can't be done"—he shrugged — "I go ahead and make the engagement anyhow, but it's likely to be much harder to do it at all."

Tom, 33, brown-haired and green-eyed, studied to be a psychiatrist, but gave up a medical career after spending a year taking voice lessons in Vienna.

"To find a road to my own essential being, I found I had to become a singer," he said. "It is a good life, but a demanding one. You can't let your voice go to seed, and in the end you become a servant of it."

"It is a capricious instrument, affected by humidity, the psyche, an upset stomach, the people around you. It is affected by everything. You have to do vocal pushups every day to keep it in condition."

An intense, mobile-featured handsome man with an easy sense of humor, Tom speaks six languages, and his expressive hands, busy in gesture as he talks, make up a seventh one. Krause believes his interest in the occult is only an expression of a preoccupation with fantasy and the mystic which is typical among Finns because of their closeness to the wilderness of nature in their uncrowded homeland.

No ivory tower classicist, Tom can play a good jazz guitar and accordion and is interested in ballet and choreography. He is an expert skier, ice skater and fencer.

His home base isn't Helsinki but Hamburg, Germany, where he usually sings for six months of the year. He has a concert scheduled in Washington for Nov. 18 and one in San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 12, and next year hopes to tour the United States.

The name of the buyer was withheld, the store said, adding that it came from "outside the immediate Dallas area."

The civet is considered a valuable animal because it produces a musky substance which is used to make perfumes.

Trojans Maintain Big Lead

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southern California Trojans have maintained their huge lead in The Associated Press' major-college football poll. But upcoming this Saturday is a meeting with the giant-killing Oregon State Beavers, eager for another upset.

"They're going to have their hands full," predicts Dee Andros, the Beavers' coach, referring to the big one at Corvallis, Ore.

Purdue and UCLA already have had their hands full with Oregon State. The Beavers knocked off the Boilermakers 22-14 on Oct. 21 when Purdue held second place in the AP poll.

UCLA, too, was in the No. 2 position until Oregon State rose up and tied the Bruins 16-16 last Saturday.

The setback dropped UCLA into fourth place in the latest voting by a national panel of 40 sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern California, 8-0 after trouncing California 31-12, accumulated 399 points, collecting all except one first-place vote plus one for second. Fifth-ranked Purdue was named the top team by one selector.

Tennessee, a 38-0 victor over Tampa, replaced UCLA in second place while North Carolina State, which beat Virginia 30-8, also advanced one position to third.

Purdue, 6-1 after walloping Illinois 42-9, moved up one place as did sixth-ranked Indiana. The Hoosiers, 7-0, edge Wisconsin, 14-9.

Wyoming, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Houston round out the Top Ten in that order. Wyoming and Notre Dame advanced one place each while Oklahoma and Houston replaced Georgia and Colorado in the ratings.

Oklahoma defeated Colorado 23-0 and Houston beat Georgia 15-14 last Saturday. The Bulldogs were ranked fifth and Colorado ninth a week ago.

Tennessee faces Tulane, North Carolina State meets Penn State, UCLA plays Washington and Purdue takes on Minnesota this Saturday.

In other games involving ranked teams, Indiana plays Michigan State, Wyoming meets New Mexico, Oklahoma faces Iowa State, Notre Dame plays Pittsburgh and Houston goes up against Memphis State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. Sou. California (39)	399
2. Tennessee	308
3. North Carolina St.	283
4. UCLA	274
5. Purdue (1)	248
6. Indiana	160

Oklahoma Team Defies Football Forecasters

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

What happened, fellow forecasters?

Oklahoma was voted in a tie for fourth and fifth with Oklahoma State and Kansas was a shaky sixth in a pre-season poll of newsmen making a 2,200-mile tour of Big Eight football camps.

Now Oklahoma is off to a 3-0 start in the league race, 5-1 for the season, ranked No. 8 nationally and favored to win the title and a bowl bid. The OU defense and the OU offensive line, both supposedly open to question, have merely been just about the best anywhere.

Kansas, 0-6-1 in league play last year, is off to an amazing 4-0 start in the Big Eight under new Coach Pepper Rodgers after losing the first three. No one laughs anymore at the mention of Bob Douglass.

The strong-armed, 6-foot-3, 210-pound junior quarterback is merely threatening the league's all-time season mark for total offense. A supposedly impotent rushing game has produced 200 yards a game in four league victories. At the same time, the passing game is potent.

Well, let's admit it, fellas—we goofed.

For one thing, we failed to realize both clubs were better than we realized last year. Oklahoma beat champion Nebraska 10-9, lost tight ones to Oklahoma State 15-14, Missouri 10-7 and Colorado 24-21. All this with its great middle guard, Granville Liggins, hurt most of the time.

Kansas played well at times in 1966 despite all manner of injury problems and frequent personnel shifting at quarterback, a key position.

Before the season, Rodgers said "rushing is the weakest part of our team right now." The Jayhawks had injuries at fullback.

Now Rodgers says "We're a balanced attack team now. You can do more things. We're running more slot plays now. When you have two wide receivers you've got to pass. Our offensive line has really improved."

Players new to their jobs like tight end John Mosier and guard Ken Wertzberger are much better blockers. The veterans are improved.

Track men Gary Ard and Ben Olson are established receivers. Basketball star Vernon Vanoy is improving at defensive end.

Chuck Fairbanks, OU coach, says simply "Pat James is the best defensive coach anywhere. He has the best defense I've ever been associated with."

"Our linebackers lacked experience but they have come through," he said. "So has Jim Fies, a sophomore, at defensive end. Our tackles are small but have played well. Of course, it's great to have Liggins healthy. We've been very lucky in regard to injuries."

Around the Big Eight Monday, the injury news was the brightest all season. Colorado expects to have standout guard Kirk Tracy and All-Big Eight fullback Wilmer Cooks ready for full-time duty against Kansas. Nebraska's standout split end Dennis Richnafsky will be back.

In Big Eight

Liggins Named Lineman Of Week

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Eight Lineman of the Week is Granville Liggins, Oklahoma's great middle guard who disrupted the offense all day and often forced Colorado quarterback Bob Anderson to run his option play off Liggins.

"I feel that Granville played the best game of his career against Colorado," said Coach Chuck Fairbanks after his team's 23-0 victory. "He made a great effort on each play, putting a terrific rush on their passer, stopping up the middle and catching three plays from behind near the sideline."

"When he overpowered their center and quarterback midway in the fourth quarter, knocking Anderson loose from the ball, he set up our final touchdown," Fairbanks added.

The cat-quick 219-pound senior from Tulsa was credited with 14 tackles, eight unassisted, partially blocked a punt which went only 13 yards and overpowered the Colorado center all day, causing botched handoffs.

"Granny's quick charge and slanting moves caused a lot of blocking problems for Colorado," said defensive Coach Pat James.

Anderson had three passes intercepted and made only 81 yards running and passing combined, compared to just one interception all season and a 146.5 average going into the game.

"Liggins was on top of me quite a few times," Anderson said. "You don't really notice who's there, but several times I realized it was Liggins."

Liggins was chosen over Nebraska middle guard Wayne Meylan, who had another great day with 14 tackles, five behind the line. Meylan got the Husker nomination over tackle Jim Mc-

Alworth Still Same On Field

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —

Five years ago a football player from Arkansas came to the American Football league billed as a baby-faced bolt of lightning.

And there's really nothing new to report on Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers, one of pro football's premier receivers.

The 6-foot, 180-pound pride of Little Rock merely continues to do everything that has made him good feature material since his rookie year in the American Football League.

His deer-like leaping catches have been described many times. His nickname of Bambi is well-known to football followers.

He's 27 now but still has that boyish look despite allowing his crew cut to grow out.

And Alworth feels he's outgrown his nickname. His coach, Sid Gillman, says Lance is anything but a timid creature of the forest. A better term, says Sid, is killer—of opposing teams.

Alworth led the AFL in receiving last year with 73 catches and he's caught 41, six for touchdowns, already this campaign.

He performed much of 1966 with a small broken bone in each hand. He began 1967 with a girde-type device to protect a severely bruised back that kept him out of most preseason games.

Coaches say the key to Alworth's success has been remarkable ability to control his body while running at top speed. The Alworth trademark is a jump and backward reach to snare the ball from a defender who often falls down while Lance prances into the end zone.

Cord, who was outstanding on defense.

Liggins got the Sooner nomination over offensive tackle Bob Kalsu, 221-pound senior who graded 87 per cent on blocking and 96 per cent on technique despite missing two practices with the flu.

Kansas nominated guard Johnny Greene, whose superb block on sweeps helped Bob Douglass gain 122 yards rushing. He also did a good job on pass protection and opened holes over the middle for Junior Riggins.

Russ Washington played his top game of the season at defensive tackle for Missouri with key stops and consistent disruption of the OSU attack. K-State's nominee, tight end Art Strozier, had four catches for 100 yards, including a fantastic one-handed grab on a 67-yard touchdown. He eluded one man, hurdled another and ran 45 yards.

Other nominees were defensive tackle John Little of OSU with 17 tackles, three behind the line; and defensive ends Mike Kirar of Iowa State and Mike Schnitker of Colorado, who stopped two OU drives.

The Big Eight Back of the Week was Missouri's Roger Wehrli, a top defender and dangerous runner who has averaged 108.3 yards a game on punt and kickoff runbacks. His 31-yarder to the OSU 8 set up the only TD.

Lindell Is A Real Grid Hero

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Steve Lindell is a tall, loose-jointed boy from Minnesota who is bothered by ulcers, hobbles around on a bad ankle, throws a pass like a washer-woman and looks anything but a football hero.

But if it's true that Army travels on its stomach, then it must be Lindell's stomach. He's the fellow who has the Army football team heading toward another fine season.

"He may not be a picture passer and he's no Olympic sprint champion, but he moves the team," Army Coach Tom Cahill said today. "To my mind, he is a wonderful athlete."

"What more do you want of a quarterback?"

Lindell, a 6-foot, 180-pound junior from Princeton, Minn., is the key man on a surprising West Point football team that won eight of ten games last year and has taken six of its seven so far in the present campaign.

Beaten only by Duke and victor over such teams as Southern Methodist, Stanford and the Air Force, the Cadets go for victory No. 7 at Michie Stadium here Saturday against Utah.

"They're big and they score a lot of points," Cahill said of his next opponents. "We expect an interesting afternoon."

Then he added significantly: "But we're in good shape. Lindell is in good shape—in about as good shape as he can ever be."

Lindell had to be held out of the early games because he was troubled with a stomach ailment that turned out to be ulcers. In the SMU game, won by Army 24-6, he twisted his left ankle.

That didn't keep him from leading Army to a 10-7 victory over the Air Force last Saturday at Colorado Springs.

"Ben Martin (Air Force coach) said it best," Cahill remarked. "He said Lindell is not a very pretty passer but somehow he gets the ball to the target. That's what counts."

"What makes a good quarterback anyhow? One that can get touchdowns. Lindell does."

Making Sure Of Shot

Earl Gerke (40) and Bob Emo (22) of Sacred Heart's Gremlins watch as Larry Brownfield of Northwest of Hughesville dunks the ball for two points. The Gremlins won the season's Activity Game at Sacred Heart Gymnasium by the score of 81-34.

Boxing Is Included

Etchison Has Double Shot At Hangman

Ronnie Etchison will have a double shot at the husky Hangman in Convention Hall action tonight.

The two are booked in a "first" for Sedalia — a wrestling-boxing match that promises to be both exciting and fast-paced.

They're scheduled for five rounds of wrestling under Australian rules, then will don boxing gloves for a free-swinging fight in which Etchison will be seeking his second knockout victory in a week.

The 240-pound St. Joseph grappler kayoed rugged Jack Donovan after nine hard-hitting rounds here last week.

For tonight's unique event, the rounds system of wrestling will be used for the first time here. They'll be 10 minutes in length, with one-minute breaks between.

Etchison, who had experience in boxing as a Golden Glover, may have lost some of his boxing finesse over

Chamberlain Not Among Top Scorers

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt, oh Wilt, where are you Wilt?

Here are the National Basketball Association scoring statistics and no Wilt Chamberlain to be found among the leading point producers.

Philadelphia's Chamberlain, the NBA's all-time scoring king, is averaging 13.6 points per game and his total of 109 points isn't enough to get him in the NBA's top 20 much less its top 10.

But Wilt, who didn't even attempt a shot in last Saturday's game against San Francisco, still leads the league in field goal percentage with a nifty .568 average on 46-for-81 and stands third in rebounds and assists.

Jimmy King of San Francisco is the leading scorer with 322 points, while teammate Nate Thurmond tops the rebounders with 313 and Len Wilkens of St. Louis leads in assists with 92.

Chamberlain's 74 assists average out to 9.3 per game—the best average in the league in that department. Wilt has grabbed 190 rebounds—a 24.1 average that ties him with Thurmond for the top per game figure.

The Mask

the years but has retained his power. A straight-away puncher, he packs a knockout wallop and will be trying to score with it against the Hangman.

The Hangman, a 255-pounder who appears to use some boxing tactics in his wrestling, also has good power.

A mixed midget-girl wrestler event is scheduled as the semifinals tonight. In that one, stocky Jean Antone will join with midget Cowboy Lang to oppose Carmen Monge and her midget partner, Little Bruiser.

Talented Ronnie Reed will take on the hefty Masked Monster in another clash, while the two 100-pounders will collide in the opener. Starting time is 8:15.

Whitworth Sets Another Golf Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Kathy Whitworth did not win a tournament last weekend, but she did set a record for the most money ever won by a professional woman golfer in a single year.

The 28-year-old Texan also continued to lead the 1967 Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament by more than $6,000.

Sandra Haynie set the previous record in 1966 with total earnings of $41,444.

Miss Whitworth's prize money for a second-place tie in the Corpus Christi, Tex., Civitan came to $1,387. This raised her total for the year to $42,585 in official and unofficial winnings.

Clifford Ann Creed won the $11,500 Civitan, but the tournament results made no change in the standings. Miss Whitworth is first with $31,517.50 in official earnings, followed by Miss Haynie with $25,178 and Carol Mann with $22,959.50. Miss Creed is sixth with $17,010.50.

Needle Marks on Silk Removable With Caution

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Mrs. W. B. F., who wants to remove needle marks from pure silk. If the silk can be moistened with no danger of spotting, lay the part with the holes on a doubled bath towel. Moisten the area quite generously, let it stand a few minutes and then lift with a hand on each side of the holes and zigzag gently to let the weave move into its original position. Do not try this if there is any danger of the fabric spotting or of a ring being left on it.—ANN

DEAR POLLY—I use an old toothbrush to gently brush the threads back to position when needles holes are left in fabric.—MRS. M. MC

DEAR POLLY—My information is for the invalid who sews and has trouble with needle marks being left in silk. I lay the material on a flat surface, such as the ironing board. Smooth it flat and gently scratch the needle holes with a fingernail, back and forth and across. This usually helps to close the holes neatly. Gently pull the cloth on the bias with both hands and then press.—ELOISE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Do you or any of the readers know of an easy way to remove the wires from an electric blanket? I do not want to use the blanket as an electric one, so I want to remove all the wires, including the plug-in attachment.—REGINA

DEAR POLLY—My three-year-old brother had a hard time telling the right sandal from the left one. I use a magic marker to make a small red dot on each sandal over the big toe. This really helps him get the right sandal on the right foot.—A 12-YEAR-OLD BABY SITTER.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. A. M. wanted to know what to use to clean her windows so they would not look streaked when the sun shines on them. A little hair shampoo added to the water does a marvelous job. I first used this on my car windows, especially the windshield, and it worked so well that I now use it on all my windows and mirrors.—MRS. E. E.

Colonels Learn The Hard Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Indiana Pacers lead the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association and the Kentucky Colonels are learning it the hard way.

The Pacers beat the Colonels a third straight time 105-95 Monday night in Louisville, Ky., for their eighth victory in 10 games and increased their lead to two games over Minnesota and Pittsburgh.

New Orleans showed its early domination of the Western Division by outscoring Oakland 136-125 in New Orleans for the Buccaneers seventh triumph against one loss.

In the only other ABA game, Denver posted a home-court victory in whipping Anaheim 121-100.

There were no National Basketball Association games scheduled.

Kentucky stayed close for 2½ periods before the Pacers opened the gap and maintained about a 10-point lead the rest of the way. Freddie Lewis finished with 33 points for the Pacers while Randy Mahaffey had 23 for Kentucky.

New Orleans spurred to an 81-59 halftime lead behind Red Robbins, who finished with 20 points. Doug Moe helped hold off Oakland in the second half and totaled 31 points.

Lavern Tart, the league's leading scorer, had 35 for the Oaks.

Denver's victory over Anaheim was sparked by a 14-point output in the second period by Wayne Hightower. The Rockets overcame a 28-27 first-quarter deficit, went ahead 53-48 at halftime and then broke the game wide open with 33 points in the third stanza.

Steve Chubin of the Amigos topped all scorers with 29 points. Lefty Thomas was high for Denver with 28 and Hightower contributed 27.

Coach Took Big Gamble

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Bert de Nemethy of the U.S. Equestrian team admitted today that he took a chance in starting two of the squads second-line riders in the Nations Cup competition at the National Horse Show.

De Nemethy riders defeated a crack British team Monday night before a crowd of 10,000 in Madison Square Garden with Kathy Kusner of Arlington, Va., Bill Steinkraus of Noroton, Conn., Neal Shapiro of Old Brookville, N.Y., and Carol Hoffmann of North Branch, N.J., handling the reins.

"It was a gamble putting Neal and Carol into the line-up," said De Nemethy. "Neither ever had been in a Nations Cup class in the Garden before."

"But both had been going very well and their horses were as good as I've ever seen them. But I am sure there would have been a lot of criticism if we had lost."

The British, one of the favorites for the Olympic gold medal in Mexico City next year, had won six of nine Nations Cups this year.

The Nations Cup is the most important international class in horse shows. Only one is permitted in each country with the exception of the United States, which, because of its size, is awarded two. The Pennsylvania National Show in Harrisburg has the other Nations Cup in the United States.

Financial Report Is Not Enough

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Professional golf's leading money winner, Jack Nicklaus, said Monday a financial report is not an accurate measure of a golfer's ability.

Nicklaus said, "There should be a point system. Give a tournament winner 50 points and so on down the line to the last pay-off slot, the 50th."

Nicklaus said a player who finished in the top ten three out of four tournaments is a better golfer than one who wins a couple and fails to do much in between.

"In baseball, a .300 hitter is a better player than a fellow with a .200 average who hits a home run now and then," Nicklaus said.

He said even the method of figuring golfers' winnings is faulty.

The PGA lists Nicklaus as having won $188,988 in "official" tournaments—those sponsored by the PGA—and $22,568 in "unofficial" prizes from unsanctioned tournaments.

The PGA figures do not include $50,000 he won in the World Series of Golf. "If you

Buchanan, Ladd Are Feared

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It's been a long time since Ernie Ladd and Buck Buchanan teamed up together at Grambling, La., College. Now, after two weeks of making adjustments, the two giant Kansas City Chiefs are just what AFL opponents feared.

The Chiefs, bidding to repeat as American Football League champions, have steamrollered, in succession, Denver 52-9 and New York 42-18 after a lackluster start.

Ladd, 6-foot-9 by 290, and Buchanan, the "little" one at 6-7 and 282, line up shoulder-to-shoulder at the defensive tackle spots, intimidating ball carriers and putting a tremendous rush on the passer.

Last Sunday's New York game is a good example. Between them, Ladd and Buchanan had seven unassisted tackles and teamed up on one. Jet quarterback Joe Namath had four passes blocked by Buchanan and was tackled within inches of a safety by Ladd.

"When you have someone with Ladd's size and strength beside you, it makes you more reckless and able to gamble more," Buchanan said. "Just since he's been here I've learned more about this game, little tricks of finesse."

The Chiefs travel to Boston Sunday.

"We're looking forward to meeting Jim Nance," Buchanan said about the Patriots' fullback. "He's the best running back in the league."

Ladd and Buchanan played defensive ends at Grambling.

win it playing golf, it's all money," Nicklaus contended.

Nicklaus said as a new member of the Professional Golfers Association Tournament Committee, he will push for a different method of rating golfers.

Long Ball Hitters Trimmed

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Long ball hitters won't have much of an advantage Thursday when play opens in the 72-hole World Cup Golf Tournament at the Club de Golf Mexico.

"This is a very narrow course," said Gary Player of South Africa. "Accuracy will be more important than distance." Martin Roesink of Holland, one of professional golf's longest hitters, was inclined to agree.

"The fairways are very narrow and it'll be easy to get in trouble," he said. "The ball carries farther at this altitude so even people who normally aren't long off the tee will be getting more distance than they would at sea level. But accuracy will be the most important thing."

Eighty golfers from 40 countries tee off Thursday morning in two-man teams to play for national prestige and personal honor in the 15th running of what used to be called the Canada Cup. Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, the kings of pro golf, are favored to repeat the team championship they won last year in Tokyo.

The park-like Club de Golf Mexico, site of the 1958 tournament, has been stretched to 7,250 yards to make the longest course ever used in the tournament.

Player, 1965 winner of the International Trophy signifying the individual championship, was pleased with the layout after 27 practice holes.

"It's a beautiful course, perhaps the most beautiful the tournament has ever been played on," he said. "But it is difficult. There are a lot of traps and I doubt that the long hitters will open up because the fairways are so narrow."

About half the 40 teams got in practice rounds Monday. The rest were due in Mexico City tonight in time for a dinner at the club. Palmer and Nicklaus, flying in private planes, were expected to be the last to arrive.

Veterans of World War I, Old Covered Bridge Barracks No. 820, will meet the second Thursday of each month at the Local 588, 1102 East Third Street at 7:30 p.m. Jake Stubinger, Comm. J. W. Gerdtz, Q.M.

State Offices Provide Lists for 'Junk Mail'

By ANTHONY DE NIGRO
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If you've been wondering how your name got on the latest "junk mail" list, you might ask your state motor vehicle department.

An Associated Press survey shows that most states sell their motor vehicle registration lists—at prices ranging from $70,000 in New York to $8 in West Virginia. Some apparently give them away.

One firm, R. L. Polk & Co. of Detroit, appears to be practically the only customer for the lists and uses them as what must be one of the largest reservoirs in the country for direct mail advertisers.

Polk won't say how much it pays for them—or how much it makes on them—but the survey showed it gets the bulk for a total of not much more than $500,000.

Disclosures of the sale of official public records for commercial use has stirred invasion of privacy controversies in some parts of the country. At least two citizens have gone into court about it.

Most motor vehicle department officials interviewed in the survey considered the sale routine. Typical was the reaction in North Carolina, which sold 2 million names and addresses for $36,000 this year.

"By law our records are open to the public unless they are specifically declared confidential and I guess that's the statute under which we've been proceeding," said Miss Foy Ingram, the North Carolina registration director.

Polk is a 97-year-old firm which also publishes 1,400 city directories. "We do not invade anyone's privacy," said Alvin Kropf, Polk's senior vice president. "As business statisticians and publishers, we gather public information and refine and publish such facts and figures which are set out in open public records."

The AP survey found that Polk buys or trades for most of the 95 million names and addresses of auto registrants directly through the state capitals at prices apparently dependent on how much the particular state thinks its list is worth.

Polk even has the list of states which say they don't sell them. These are Illinois, Alaska, South Dakota, Kentucky, Washington and Washington, D.C.

New York State's $70,000 a year is the highest price Polk pays for one list. California, which has the biggest motor vehicle population in the country, gets $47,000. Rural Alabama gets $52,000 while auto state Michigan gets $1,200. South Carolina charges $75. Wisconsin gets $120. All sell to Polk.

Sometimes Polk trades for the lists. In New Jersey, for instance, Polk is the super sleuth who tracks down 400,000 parking scofflaws a year. In return, it gets the state's registration list free.

Because New Jersey law forbids the sale of auto registrations, the state motor vehicle department has been trading the lists to Polk for more than a decade. Under the arrangement, municipal courts send the state unanswered parking summonses which list only the license number of the vehicle. The state sends numbers to Polk and Polk sends back the name and address of the car's owner.

In Nebraska, Polk pays the salary of a clerk in the motor vehicles department. She sends the lists to Detroit, where the slips are alphabetized and returned to Lincoln.

Besides the auto registration list Minnesota sells to Polk, the state sells 50 to 100 lists of various types to various interests. They range from lists of dentists, doctors and restaurants to a computer printout of 210,000 boat owners—the latter for $500.

Every year since 1922, Polk has compiled a complete nationwide list of auto registrations. It uses them primarily, it says, for some 50 statistical reports sold within the automotive industry and secondarily for sale to direct mail advertisers.

Polk, a privately owned company that doesn't make public financial statements, would say only that 10 per cent of its income is derived from the registration lists. It did say, however, that the lists are expensive to the average direct mail buyer.

When it sells to direct mail houses, Polk actually keeps the list and mails the sample or brochure for the advertiser. The auto industry is its largest single user, principally for the mailing of multipaged color brochures at the beginning of a new model year. Other chief customers are auto accessory firms, tire and oil companies, publishing houses and newspapers.

Polk sells direct mail lists to a wide range of firms, from bankers to fertilizer manufacturers. Recently two suits were brought in connection with the state sale of the lists, one in federal court in Manhattan and the other in Superior Court in Hartford, Conn.

Both were filed on the invasion of privacy issue and both are still in litigation. They are apparently the only two court challenges of the practice of selling official records for commercial uses.

In Connecticut, clerical worker Norman S. Chapin of Warehouse Point got angry at the volume of junk mail in his mailbox and decided to do something about it. He moved and refused to furnish his new address to the department of motor vehicles.

Chapin was threatened with loss of his license and relented. But on the day he furnished his new address he also filed suit charging the state was invading his privacy by selling his name to Polk.

Judge Joseph W. Bogdanski issued a temporary injunction last May stopping Connecticut's motor vehicle department from selling its list to Polk for an estimated $20,000 a year. But he did it on grounds the state furnished Polk more than a 1965 law allowed.

Judge Bogdanski refused to rule on the constitutionality of selling the lists, leaving that for later full trial.

In New York, writer Corliss Lamont is appealing a federal district court ruling against his contention that the state's sale of its six-million-name list for $70,000 a year is an invasion of privacy.

Trial Judge Marvin E. Frankel ruled out the constitutional question. "The short, though regular journey from mailbox to trash can... is an acceptable burden, at least so far as the Constitution is concerned," he said.

It is no invasion of privacy at all, he said—merely another battle in the state's effort "to tap a small source of revenue."

Virginia sells its two million auto registrants to Polk for about $11,000 and A. T. Beale, deputy motor vehicles commissioner, sees it as a safeguard to mailbox privacy.

"Actually," he said, "I believe the sale of our list... reduces the amount of junk mail since the automotive industry is able to send mailers to specific customers it wants to reach."

Postmaster Lewis Moore of Nashville, Tenn., hears more often, however, from those who don't agree. "A lot of people complain," he said. "They call us and say they don't want any more. We cannot cut it off once it is in the channels of delivery."

Ask State To Share Revenues

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A resolution calling for the state to share its revenues with the cities was adopted Monday by directors of the Missouri Municipal League who met in Kansas City.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes is urged by the resolution to introduce legislation in the next legislative session to rebate state funds to cities.

Member cities of the league were urged to support the sharing of existing state revenues, or increasing the state sales and income taxes with the increases going to the cities in which the taxes are collected.

A one per cent increase in the sales tax in Kansas City would bring the city about $6.5 million a year, Mayor Ilus Davis estimated. Davis, mayor of Kansas City, is a director of the league.

John Poelker, comptroller of St. Louis, offered the resolution, which was unanimously approved. Others voting for it were the mayors of Springfield, St. Joseph, Brookfield and Florissant.

Washington state has 2,500 miles of coastline.

IN THE NEWS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Professional flagpole-sitter Richard "Dixie" Blaton has reached his 65th birthday but to avoid letting "the grass grow under my feet," does not plan to retire.

Blaton, a flagpole-sitter the last 40 years, said that when applying for Social Security, he asked for reduced benefits, making him eligible to keep on working.

He claims a world record of 125 days and nights perched atop a pole in Stockholm, Sweden in 1965.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Passengers on the dozens of jetliners leaving Memphis daily will probably be startled when the planes taxi onto the field, then stop to be sprayed from nose to tail with chemicals.

Memphis has Japanese beetles in abundance with most of them concentrated around Memphis Metropolitan Airport.
